One night, while the rest of the group was waiting for the rescuers to return, one member saw a lone figure staggering about in a precipitous area where they were due to climb the next day. Dr. Moseley says the man would fall 20 or 30 feet, get up and stagger on. It was 2 a.m., but the Moseley party roused itself and went up to see what help it could provide.

The lone figure turned out to be a German, disoriented and suffering from altitude sickness, but who managed to tell them he was the best off of his three companions who were encamped on the next level. One of his companions was experiencing severe vomiting, a younger man had fallen and bashed his head, and his father was trying to look after both.

SOS in the Snow. The disoriented fellow was placed in a tent and given chicken soup. Next day, he was taken down the mountain, and radio contact was made to Anchorage. The others went on and found the three as described. "It was a pitiful spectacle," Dr. Moseley recalls.

A plane from Anchorage flew over and dropped little parachutes with messages, asking if they needed a helicopter rescue and directing them to stamp out an

Although officially retired in 1972, Dr. Johnson carried out a three year assignment on the staff of the United Presbyterian Program Agency as a consultant on liaison with overseas missionaries. He and Mrs. Johnson then spent a year as volunteers in mission to Nepal.

Mrs. Johnson, a member of the College Club of Princeton, and former board member, is a graduate of Smith College. She has been active in many organizations and has held such responsible positions as treasurer of the Palestinian Refuge Relief Committee of the Near East Council of Churches, teacher in several girls' schools, and business manager of the Delhi Gate Clinic in Lahore.

The Women's College Club elected officers at its annual meeting;

Mrs. Donald Grove, president; Miss Jean Louise Williams, vice president; Mrs. John J. Leahy, recording secretary; Mrs. Scott T. Ritenour, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Pendergass, treasurer; Mrs. Dietrich Meyerhofer, and Mrs. Howard Diggs, members-at-large.

Committee chairmen elected are Mrs. John Mason, blue slip; Mrs. William Frazier, directory; Mrs. Barton Kreuzer, historian; Mrs. William L. Powell, and Mrs. Clifford W. Slaybaugh, hospitality; Mrs. John L. Cullen, investments; Mrs. George D. Eggers, Jr., membership; Mrs. Leon A. Greenberg, memorial fund; Mrs. H.L. Arnould, neighborhood activities; Mrs. Albert G. Chenicek, and Mrs. Robert Warner, program; Mrs. Prince A. Taylor, Jr., publicity; Mrs. Lawrence Stifel, scholarship, and Mrs. Nat Robertson, special interests.

The Princeton Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold a covered dish international supper on Wednesday, June 4, at All Saints' Church on Terhune Road. Members and guests will gather for punch and a social hour at 6:30, and supper will follow at 7. Officers will be installed for the coming year.

Prospective members are welcome. Reservations may be made by calling Phyllis Roney at (201) 329-2782.

College Club scholarship honors Mrs. Meyerhofer

The Women's College Club of Princeton has given scholarships and made loans to young women for 65 years. This year, in addition, a special scholarship will be awarded in memory of D. May Meyerhofer.

An enthusiastic member of the club throughout the time she lived in Princeton, she served as treasurer and later as president. She dedicated much of her time to the education and well-being of the young people of the community. Mrs. Meyerhofer was active also in the Youth Employment Service and was president at one time.

Applications for scholarships are already in the hands of the Scholarship Committee, of which Dell Stifel is chairman.

The scholarship fund, which over the years has helped hundreds of students, has grown to a considerable amount. It is made up from part of the annual dues, income on investments, voluntary contributions, and from an annual benefit party in March. Under the chairmanship of Margaret Driggs, the benefit party raised over $2000 this year.

The College Club has a Memorial Education Loan Fund, begun relatively recently and still modest, which is made up of contributions given in honor of a partiuclar person. Loans from these funds are available on favorable terms to women after their first year in college. Lillian Greenberg is chairman of the Loan Fund.

Party to fund scholars

Since 1916, the Women's College Club of Princeton has awarded hundreds of scholarships and prizes to qualified seniors in Princeton schools. To raise funds for the 1981 awards, the club will sponsor its annual dessert-card party on March 9 at the Stuart Country Day School. Martha Hartmann, right, is ready to receive bids of $200 or more on the 92" x 96" crocheted heirloom bedspread in the silent auction. Margaret Driggs, left, and Betty Hamilton hold a brass rubbing of a 14th Century English cleric. A framed picture of the Capitol in Washington, and computers are early gifts for the auction. A country store variety of items will be offered in the Plain and Fancy Sale. Tickets and drawings for luncheons will increase the total for students at Stuart, Princeton Day School, the Hun School and Princeton High School. Mrs. William R. Frazier, 158 Herrontown Road, is chairman of reservations.

Climbing Mt. McKinley

is the time one must begin to avoid sun melt and the greater risk of slipping into crevasses.

Just at 2, the wind picked up, and they found themselves engulfed in a severe three-day snow storm. Mt. McKinley is subject to treacherous summer storms as the warm Pacific winds from China meet the bulk of frigid Arctic air.

Close Call. Tent poles collapsed in winds that Jim Hale, the group leader, estimated at more than 80 miles an hour. Their thermometer disappeared in the swirling snow, but the last reading was minus 27 degrees. A tent mate was buried in snow to his chin before being dug out.

The incessant roar of the wind made an unnerving, battering noise, like a train passing nearby, Dr. Moseley says. "I can't remember much of those days or nights. For all I knew, it might as well have been 24 hours instead of three days. Our noble leader kept waking us up and urging us to melt snow and make soup."

Dr. Moseley had read a book once called "Hall of the Mountain God," an account of three who perished in a similar storm, and he thought.

ALL FOR A SCHOLARSHIP PARTY: From left, Margaret Driggs, Betty Hamilton and Martha Hartmann display items which will be auctioned at the Women's College Club Party for Scholarships on March 9 at Stuart Country Day School. Bids in amounts above $200 for the white crocheted bedspread in the foreground may be mailed to Mrs. Hartmann at 178 Moore Street in advance of the event.

Club awards scholarships

The Women's College Club of Princeton has announced winners of the annual scholarship competition.

In memory of D. May Meyerhofer, former club president and dedicated community leader who devoted years to furthering the education of women, a special scholarship has been awarded to Ronny Toussaint, who will attend the University of Rochester.

Carolyn Sharp received the Anniversary Award, which is given to a girl with very high scholastic standing, and outstanding qualities of character and personality. She will attend Wesleyan University.

The Founders Award went to Elizabeth Sharp, a girl with very high scholastic standing, who manifests qualities of unusual leadership and promise of usefullness. She will study at Princeton University.

The Memorial Award has been given to Ann Tomalin, whose character, leadership, scholarship, citizenship, and extra-curricular activities have won her in the esteem of teachers and fellow students. This award will be used at Emory University.

The club also awarded eight 1981 awards to the following women: Roya Abhore, College of Wooster; Bang Au, University of Delaware; Rally Carter, University of Maryland; Caryl Ciabattoni, Dickenson College; Tracy Hill, Philadelphia College of Art; Abigail Pudpud, Wake Forest; Sheryl Troy, Denison University; Alicia Williams, Princeton University.

Certificates will be awarded to the girl in the graduating class of Princeton High School, Hun School, Princeton Day School, and Stuart Country Day School with the highest academic ranking.

The 1981 scholarship committee includes Dell Stifel, chairman; Martha Hartman, Anne Frazier, Lillian Greenberg, Rita Ludlum and Molly Updike.

COLLEGE CLUB scholarship recipients stand on porch of Present Day Club where they were honored at a luncheon Monday. They are, from left, front, Bang Au, Abby Pudpud, Caryl Ciabettoni, Elizabeth Sharp, Roya Abhari; rear, Alicia Williams, Kelly Carter, Sheryl Troy and Ronny Toussaint.
